Dr. Tracy Campbell's passion for the best possible patient outcome is what drives her each day. "I deliver the highest quality surgical care in an empathetic and friendly environment. The patients should feel like part of our family when they are in our office," says Dr. Campbell, explaining that her fellowship and residency left her feeling determined to help conquer skin cancer. "We have state of the art facilities and cutting-edge technology to aid in delivering the highest quality medical care." She believes in the mantra that a patient may not remember what you say to them, but they will remember how they feel. "I realize that Mohs Surgery can be a stressful moment for a patient and it's paramount that I make my patients feel as comfortable as possible. I continue to research new techniques to perfect my trade," adds Dr. Campbell, who resides in Barrington with her husband and three children. "My passion is dermatology and cancer surgery and I always want to convey to the patient that we have the same goal which is to have the best possible medical outcome."
